Enclosure(s)

FBI FOIPA Addendum

As referenced in our letter responding to your Freedom of Information/Privacy Acts (FOIPA) request, the FBI FOIPA Addendum provides information applicable to your request. Part 1 of the Addendum includes standard responses that apply to all requests. Part 2 includes standard responses that apply to requests for records about individuals to the extent your request seeks the listed information. Part 3 includes general information about FBI records, searches, and programs.

Part 1: The standard responses below apply to all requests:

- (i) 5 U.S.C. § 552(c). Congress excluded three categories of law enforcement and national security records from the requirements of the FOIPA [5 U.S.C. § 552(c)]. FBI responses are limited to those records subject to the requirements of the FOIPA. Additional information about the FBI and the FOIPA can be found on the www.fbi.gov/foia website.
- (ii) Intelligence Records. To the extent your request seeks records of intelligence sources, methods, or activities, the FBI can neither confirm nor deny the existence of records pursuant to FOIA exemptions (b)(1), (b)(3), and as applicable to requests for records about individuals, PA exemption (j)(2) [5 U.S.C. §§ 552/552a (b)(1), (b)(3), and (j)(2)]. The mere acknowledgment of the existence or nonexistence of such records is itself a classified fact protected by FOIA exemption (b)(1) and/or would reveal intelligence sources, methods, or activities protected by exemption (b)(3) [50 USC § 3024(i)(1)]. This is a standard response and should not be read to indicate that any such records do or do not exist.

Part 2: The standard responses below apply to all requests for records on individuals:

- (i) Requests for Records about any Individual—Watch Lists. The FBI can neither confirm nor deny the existence of any individual's name on a watch list pursuant to FOIA exemption (b)(7)(E) and PA exemption (j)(2) [5 U.S.C. §§ 552/552a (b)(7)(E), (j)(2)]. This is a standard response and should not be read to indicate that watch list records do or do not exist.
- (ii) Requests for Records about any Individual—Witness Security Program Records. The FBI can neither confirm nor deny the existence of records which could identify any participant in the Witness Security Program pursuant to FOIA exemption (b)(3) and PA exemption (j)(2) [5 U.S.C. §§ 552/552a (b)(3), 18 U.S.C. 3521, and (j)(2)]. This is a standard response and should not be read to indicate that such records do or do not exist.
- (iii) Requests for Confidential Informant Records. The FBI can neither confirm nor deny the existence of confidential informant records pursuant to FOIA exemptions (b)(7)(D), (b)(7)(E), and (b)(7)(F) [5 U.S.C. § 552 (b)(7)(D), (b)(7)(E), and (b)(7)(F)] and Privacy Act exemption (j)(2) [5 U.S.C. § 552a (j)(2)]. The mere acknowledgment of the existence or nonexistence of such records would reveal confidential informant identities and information, expose law enforcement techniques, and endanger the life or physical safety of individuals. This is a standard response and should not be read to indicate that such records do or do not exist.

Part 3: General Information:

- (i) Record Searches and Standard Search Policy. The Record/Information Dissemination Section (RIDS) searches for reasonably described records by searching systems, such as the Central Records System (CRS), or locations where responsive records would reasonably be found. The CRS is an extensive system of records consisting of applicant, investigative, intelligence, personnel, administrative, and general files compiled by the FBI per its law enforcement, intelligence, and administrative functions. The CRS spans the entire FBI organization, comprising records of FBI Headquarters, FBI Field Offices, and FBI Legal Attaché Offices (Legats) worldwide; Electronic Surveillance (ELSUR) records are included in the CRS. The standard search policy is a search for main entity records in the CRS. Unless specifically requested, a standard search does not include a search for reference entity records, administrative records of previous FOIPA requests, or civil litigation files.
 - a. Main Entity Records – created for individuals or non-individuals who are the subjects or the focus of an investigation
 - b. Reference Entity Records- created for individuals or non-individuals who are associated with a case but are not known subjects or the focus of an investigation
- (ii) FBI Records. Founded in 1908, the FBI carries out a dual law enforcement and national security mission. As part of this dual mission, the FBI creates and maintains records on various subjects; however, the FBI does not maintain records on every person, subject, or entity.
- (iii) Foreseeable Harm Standard. As amended in 2016, the Freedom of Information Act provides that a federal agency may withhold responsive records only if: (1) the agency reasonably foresees that disclosure would harm an interest protected by one of the nine exemptions that FOIA enumerates, or (2) disclosure is prohibited by law (5 United States Code, Section 552(a)(8)(A)(i)). The FBI considers this foreseeable harm standard in the processing of its requests.
- (iv) Requests for Criminal History Records or Rap Sheets. The Criminal Justice Information Services (CJIS) Division provides Identity History Summary Checks – often referred to as a criminal history record or rap sheet. These criminal history records are not the same as material in an investigative "FBI file." An Identity History Summary Check is a listing of information taken from fingerprint cards and documents submitted to the FBI in connection with arrests, federal employment, naturalization, or military service. For a fee, individuals can request a copy of their Identity History Summary Check. Forms and directions can be accessed at www.fbi.gov/about-us/cjis/identity-history-summary-checks. Additionally, requests can be submitted electronically at www.edo.cjis.gov. For additional information, please contact CJIS directly at (304) 625-5590.

BARBARA DEMING

File maintained for Barbara Deming at Passport Office, United States Department of State was reviewed on August 14, 1964, and the following information was included in the file:

Passport B 715662 was issued to Barbara Deming on December 20, 1961. This passport will expire on December 19, 1964, and may be renewed for two years.

Under date July 31, 1964, Barbara Deming, RFD 1, Showhegan, Maine, addressed a letter to Bureau of Security and Consular Affairs, Department of State in which she stated:

"I write to ask permission to go to Cuba-- though I feel very deeply that in a free society one should not have to ask permission to travel. I am a writer and journalist. In the spring of 1960, after a visit of several weeks to Cuba, I wrote a piece about my visit for THE NATION. THE NATION's editor, Carey McWilliams, would now like me to write another piece, describing the changes I find there. If the Quebec-Washington-Guantanamo Walk for Peace should reach Cuba, he would like me to time my trip to coincide with at least the beginning of their stay, so as to be able to tell, too, something of their experiences there.

"My year-round address is Wellfleet, Cape Cod, Massachusetts, but during the coming month of August it will be RFD 1, Showhegan, Maine, and my telephone will be (207) MI 3-2199."

The Passport Office by letter dated 8/13/64, advised subject that the State Department had determined that her request for permission to travel to Cuba did not come within the criteria for the granting of such permission. Her request, therefore, was disapproved.

This document contains neither recommendations nor conclusions of the FBI. It is the property of the FBI and is loaned to your agency; it and its contents are not to be distributed outside your agency.

(U) On September 10, 1964, a confidential informant, who has furnished reliable information in the past, ascertained the Cuban Mission to the United Nations advised the Czechoslovak Embassy in Washington, D. C., that visas should be issued to Barbara Deming, David Dellinger, and A. J. Muste (Abraham John Muste). Informant determined on September 18, 1964, that David Dellinger, described as with the "Liberation Magazine," 5 Beekman Street, New York, New York, consulted the Czechoslovak Embassy, Washington, D. C., stating he had learned through the Cuban Mission to the United Nations that he would be granted a visa to travel to Cuba and that it should be handled through the Czechoslovak Embassy. It was indicated that appropriate application forms would be made available to Dellinger. Dellinger requested that forms also be included for A. J. Muste and Barbara Deming, whom he described as two other journalists who are also planning to travel to Cuba. (S)

The Passport Office, by letter dated August 13, 1964, advised Deming that the USDS had determined her request for permission to travel to Cuba did not come within the criteria for the granting of such permission and her request was disapproved.

By letter dated August 21, 1964, Deming noted the USDS had recently granted a large number of journalists permission to travel to Cuba and expressed her concern why an exception is made in her case. She asked to be informed of the criteria and why she failed to meet them.

The USDS, by letter dated September 8, 1964, acknowledged Deming's letter of August 21, 1964. This USDS letter stated that it is possible that Deming could qualify provided she submitted additional information. The USDS requested that she forward a letter from the editor of "The Nation" stating that Deming would be on assignment for that publication and traveling under its auspices. The USDS further indicated it would need confirming evidence that Deming is a full-time writer and journalist.

Passport Office, USDS, on September 21, 1964, made available a file on Abraham John Muste. b7C

It is noted that the file on Muste was not complete but the following information was contained therein:

USDS, by letter dated August 4, 1964, advised United States Senator (Gaylord) Nelson, with reference to the inquiry presented by Nelson in his letter of July 29, 1964, that the request of A. J. Muste, Chairman of the Committee for Non-Violent Action, for validation of passports of a group from this committee for travel to Cuba has been denied by the USDS since the purpose of such travel is not within the established criteria.

Committee For Non-Violent Action
(Quebec-Guantanamo Walk for Peace)

The name of one, Barbara Deming, not further identified, appears as a member of the Executive Committee of the Committee For Non-Violent Action (CNVA), 325 Lafayette Street, New York, New York, as of April 6, 1963. B. APPROX 1970

The March 23, 1962 issue of the 'New York Daily News' carried an article that Barbara Deming, 457 East 87th Street, New York City, Page 44, was acquitted for insufficient evidence after being arrested with other individuals on charges of disorderly conduct and resisting arrest when they staged a sit-down demonstration in front of the Atomic Energy Commission offices, 376 Hudson Street, New York City.

Page five of volume '2', Number 14 of the publication "Fair Play" dated May 10, 1961, which is published by the Fair Play For Cuba Committee (FPCC) carried an "open letter" to Fidel Castro signed by Barbara Deming and two others described as "Two of FPCC's staunchest members and a loyal friend". This letter was an appeal to Castro to abolish the death penalty in Cuba.

The name of one, Barbara Deming, appears as a committee member on leaflet calling for a vigil and protest outside Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) headquarters in Washington, D.C. from April 30, 1961 to May 13, 1961, demanding the abolition of CIA and the end of United States intervention in the internal affairs of the Cuban people. This demonstration was under the sponsorship of the Non-Violent Committee for Cuban Independence (NCCI), 110 Christopher Street, New York 14, New York.

A characterization of the FPCC is attached and sources mentioned therein have furnished reliable information in the past. ALL INFORMATION CONTAINED

APPENDIX

FAIR PLAY FOR CUBA COMMITTEE

The April 6, 1960, edition of "The New York Times" newspaper contained a full-page advertisement captioned "What Is Really Happening In Cuba," placed by the Fair Play for Cuba Committee (FPCC). This advertisement announced the formation of the FPCC in New York City and declared the FPCC intended to promulgate "the truth about revolutionary Cuba" to neutralize the distorted American press.

"The New York Times" edition of January 11, 1961, reported that at a hearing conducted before the United States Senate Internal Security Subcommittee on January 10, 1961, [redacted]

[redacted] identified himself and [redacted] as organizers of the FPCC. He also testified he and [redacted] obtained funds from the Cuban Government which were applied toward the cost of the afore-mentioned advertisement.

On May 16, 1963, a source advised that during the first two years of the FPCC's existence there was a struggle between Communist Party (CP) and Socialist Workers Party (SWP) elements to exert their power within the FPCC and thereby influence FPCC policy. However, during the past year this source observed there has been a successful effort by FPCC leadership to minimize the role of these and other organizations in the FPCC so that today their influence is negligible.

On May 20, 1963, a second source advised that the National Headquarters of the FPCC is located in Room 329 at 799 Broadway, New York City. According to this source, the position of National Office Director was created in the Fall of 1962 and was filled by [redacted] who now formulates FPCC policy. This source observed [redacted] has followed a course of entertaining and accepting the cooperation of many other organizations including the CP and the SWP when he has felt it would be to his personal benefit as well as the FPCC's. However, [redacted] has indicated to this source he has no intention of permitting FPCC policy to be determined by any other organization. [redacted] feels the FPCC should advocate resumption of diplomatic relations between Cuba and the United States and support the right of Cubans to manage their revolution without interference from other nations, but not support the Cuban revolution per se.

The CP and the SWP have been designated pursuant to Executive Order 10450.

According to an article appearing in the December 24, 1963, issue of the Macon "Telegraph," a Macon, Georgia, daily newspaper, charges against Miss Barbara Deming, age 46, of Willfleet, Massachusetts, were dismissed on December 23, 1963.

Miss Deming, according to the article, while participating in a CNVA sponsored walk, was arrested November 19, 1963, along with eighteen other individuals in Macon, Georgia, for violation of a city ordinance which prohibited the distribution of literature on city streets, and with resisting arrest.

Macon city attorney [redacted] and Police Chief L.B. McCollum on December 23, 1963, introduced a motion in City Recorders Court for the dismissal of these charges as the sentences imposed against others arrested in the same incident were commuted November 22, 1963. b6 b7C

Miss Deming had previously posted a $50.00 cash bond and told the court she desired an attorney to represent her and to appeal any possible conviction on the grounds the ordinance was unconstitutional.

QUEBEC-WASHINGTON-GUANTANAMO WALK FOR PEACE SPONSORED BY
COMMITTEE FOR NONVIOLENT ACTION
325 LAFAYETTE STREET, NEW YORK CITY 12, NEW YORK

On November 19, 1963, Chief WILLIAM H. BARGERON, Chief of Detectives, Police Department, Macon, Georgia, advised that representatives of captioned group had contacted the Chief of Police and other city officials at Macon, Georgia, for a day or two prior to November 19, 1963, and informed them they intended to march through the city of Macon, Georgia, in connection with their peace education project. Chief BARGERON stated that the Chief of Police and other city officials informed members of this group that they would be allowed to march through the city and carry their placards provided they did so in an orderly manner and did not interfere with traffic. He said the representatives were informed that they would not be allowed to distribute literature or pamphlets within the city because such activities would be in violation of a city ordinance.

Chief BARGERON advised that during the morning of November 19, 1963, the members of the "Peace Walk" entered the city limits of Macon, Georgia, on Forsyth Road and immediately started distributing literature contrary to instructions from the Chief of Police and city officials. He stated that 19 of the 20 or 21 marchers were arrested for violation of City Ordinance #11-118 which provides that every person is prohibited from placing in automobiles in the city or from otherwise distributing anywhere in the city any handbill, circular, pamphlet, poster, post card or literature of any kind. Chief BARGERON stated many of the marchers offered passive resistance when arrested by refusing to obey orders of the officers or to walk to police cars after the arrest. Chief BARGERON stated that all 19 of the walkers were charged with violation of the city ordinance in regard to distribution of literature, several of them were charged with resisting arrest (passive) and several were later charged for contempt of court when they refused to stand in the courtroom as ordered.

On November 19, 1963, Chief BARGERON advised that the trial of the marchers was postponed on November 19, 1963, until November 20, 1963, to give them an opportunity to consult counsel.

On November 20, 21, 26, and 27, 1963, Chief BARGERON and Chief RUFUS SMITH, Identification Bureau, Police Department, Macon, Georgia, furnished the following information concerning members of the Quebec-Washington-Guantanamo Walk for Peace who were arrested by the Macon Police Department on November 19, 1963:

Barbara Deming - - She's a Real Shocker

By ROBERT B. KENNEY

Staff Reporter

WELLFLEET — Barbara Deming is not what you'd call an eye-opener. Not until she begins to talk.

A plain-Jane type with short, straight hair, Barbara Deming becomes a shocker when she starts to speak.

With the cool of the lady next door discussing the weekly trip to the supermarket, she drops pronouncements such as:

"I can think of no greater disservice to one's country than to say, 'My government, right or wrong'."

"I think we're (U.S.) the biggest threat in the world at this moment. I think we're becoming the new barbarians."

"Talking to Ho Chi Minh is like talking to the man next door."

Barbara Deming is a 49-year-old pacifist, civil rights activist and free-lance writer recently returned from an 11-day tour of North Vietnam, including a meeting with its leader.

Miss Deming was accompanied by three women, Mrs. Joseph Griffith of Ithaca, N.Y.; Mrs. Diane Nash Beyel of Chicago, and Mrs. Grace Newman of New York City. They arrived in Hanoi Dec. 22 and left Jan. 2.

Her purpose in making the trip was two-fold: to observe what America is doing in Vietnam and its effects on the Vietnamese people; "to affirm, by my act, my refusal to accept my government's judgment that these people are our enemies."

IMPRESSIONS

Interviewed at her home here Thursday, Miss Deming ticked off what had impressed her most about the trip—again dealing in doubles:

"1—I got the very strong impression my government is waging a war of terror against the civilian population."

"2—I was greatly impressed that this attempt to terrorize these people into surrender absolutely is not going to work—not ever."

(Interestingly, in every reference to the U.S. government Miss Deming called it either "my" or "our" government, using an extremely possessive, possessive adjective.)

She said she doesn't believe the American government is "coming clean" when it says it is bombing military installations.

"If that's true, was it by accident so many Lazy Dogs have been dropped on civilian villages?"

She said Lazy Dogs are baseball-sized, anti-personnel bombs filled with ball bearing-sized pellets which fly in all directions upon detonation.

Miss Deming told of seeing victims, most of them children, of these bombs in several villages, and of speaking with doctors about the "fiendish" task of trying to get at the pellets and get them out.

"I call it barbaric," she said. "It really scares me—Americans are just not willing to face the fact of what our government is doing and I think it's terrifying."

As to the "futility" of the American war effort there, Miss Deming contends it's very clear and very simple: the North Vietnamese are fighting, and why they're fighting so persistently:

"Very simply they are fighting for independence from foreign domination—by anyone."

QUOTES HO

She quoted Ho Chi Minh: "We know what it is to be slaves. Under French rule, in the 1940's we lost two million Vietnamese—even if we have to fight two, three, even five years we aren't going to lose that many."

Miss Deming said it's very clear to her the only way we're going to "defeat these people is by exterminating them."

She questioned whether the American people want their government to do that in their names—"to commit genocide."

"What terrifies me is that I find very few Americans who are willing to look at what our government is doing and to question it," she said.

Speaking of her meeting with Ho, Miss Deming said the North Vietnamese leader spoke in English—faltering at first, but improving later. The interview lasted "more than an hour."

"It was completely informal, no protocol. He sat on a stuffed chair, we (the four women) sat facing him on a sofa. There was no rhetoric, no sarcasm. He is a man of humor, shrewdness and a lot of humanity."

She said Ho expressed regret at the unnecessary deaths of Americans in his country. "If you think I'm happy about the deaths of all these young Americans you're wrong. We are not happy. I could be f---," she quoted him as saying.

As to the American listening to the American troops had not come willingly, that he was treating them as friends, but his country must defend itself, she said, "the Americans would leave Vietnam," she quoted Ho as saying: "We would have a banquet for them, with champagne if they'd like. Either they go with music or it will have to be by force. We don't care how long it takes."

Miss Deming said the women visited two of the American fliers being held captive by the North Vietnamese. She said they appeared to be in good condition and well cared for.

The women were allowed to bring home letters from the two prisoners to their wives. However, the letters were confiscated by U.S. Customs agents, Miss Deming said.

In addition, Mrs. Griffith brought back to the U.S. letters from 20 captured airmen.

Navy Cmdr James A. Muligan Jr. of Lawrence and Ipswich, the only known New Englander among the captive pilots, was not in the pair the women saw, nor was he among those sending home letters with them.)

RELIGIOUS CLAIMS

Miss Deming also reported what amounted to blissful co-existence among Communists, Christians and members of other religious sects in North Vietnam.

She recalled an interview with a Catholic priest, the Rev. Ho Thanh Bien in Hanoi, in a small room in a rectory with a picture of Christ on one wall, a picture of Ho Chi Minh on another.

"We have no problems between Communists and Catholics," she quoted the clergyman as saying. "The Communists don't interfere with us, even though they don't believe in God.

"They are taking the lead in building our economy and culture. We admire them and we cooperate with them."

Churches Fortified

The priest told her that many of the churches were fortified, their bell towers turned into gun positions, under the French. When the French fell back, they destroyed the churches. The Communists helped rebuild them.

"Now the Americans are bombing the churches," she claimed. "When I spoke to the priest 125 churches had been hit by American bombing raids," she said.

Miss Deming said she believes the American people have failed to ask themselves what it really means when the United States says it is fighting to contain communism.

"It has a very noble sound, but what it amounts to is our trying to determine for people in a country thousands of miles away what kind of society they're going to build. I call this tyranny," she said.

After resting from her trip, Miss Deming plans an extensive speaking tour in various parts of the country.

She will make her charges in an effort to get people to look at what their government is allegedly doing in Vietnam and ask if this is what they want done in their names.

"I shall try to persuade them not to cooperate with their government by refusing to pay taxes while our money goes to finance this war.

"I shall urge young men not to fight, workers not to make armaments and scientists not to invent any more of them."

USED TO TROUBLE

She concedes such action is apt to get her into trouble with the government, but she stands ready to defend herself.

Besides, she's used to it—here and abroad.

In Spring, 1964, she was jailed in Albany, Ga., after being arrested during a peace march. Last Spring she was arrested in Saigon and ejected from that country after a planned march on the U.S. embassy was blocked.

And, at any moment, she expects a letter from the U.S. State Dept. asking voluntary surrender of her passport because of the unauthorized Vietnam trip. She plans to contest.

While her actions and statements admittedly make her suspect, she vehemently denies any disloyalty to her country.

"I'm a pacifist. I believe in God. I could hardly be a Communist. I believe people should be able to build the kind of society they want.

"I have never taken an action in my life that I felt to be more loyal to my country (than the Vietnam trip)."

She said she believes very strongly that her government is "betraying" the American people by sacrificing the lives of so many in an allegedly "ignoble" cause.

"I can think of no greater disservice to one's country than to say 'My government, right or wrong.'

"If you feel your government is leading the people down a path that is utterly reckless and wrong and you don't stand against it as best you can, and others who feel the same way don't stand with you, how is the government's course ever to change?"

BARBARA DAVISON DEMING

Two daily Chicago newspapers, the "Chicago Tribune" and the "Chicago Sun Times" editions of December 18, 1966, contained articles which disclosed that four United States women were then in Moscow, USSR, waiting for transportation to Hanoi, North Vietnam. The four women were identified as follows:

The article in the "Chicago Sun Times" indicated that three of the four women identified above had a lengthy talk on Saturday, December 17, 1966, with a representative of the Viet Cong in Moscow. Then all four proceeded to a Moscow airport to embark upon their trip to Hanoi. Bad weather blocked their airline flight on this occasion, however, and their travel was postponed temporarily.

RE: BARBARA DAVISON DEMING

[] The article quoted three of the four, excluding [] [] as having stated that they wanted to see for themselves what they referred to as "an immoral, illegal war" and then tell the American people about it, contending that the American people were not getting a true picture.

The four women had departed from New York City, New York, on Wednesday, December 14, 1966, and are traveling to Hanoi at the invitation of the North Vietnamese Women's Union, expecting to be in North Vietnam for ten to fourteen days. The women indicated that they were chosen by a group of about twenty-five women two weeks ago to represent the United States peace movement and to make this trip. They are to come back to the United States and report to others in the peace movement and the public generally as to what they saw in North Vietnam.

The "Chicago Sun Times" article continued that the group of four women had arrived in Moscow on December 14, 1966, and on Friday, December 16, 1966, had met with the wife of the North Vietnamese Ambassador and a representative of the North Vietnamese Embassy in Moscow. They had obtained visas for their trip to Hanoi, permitting them to travel through China. On December 16, 1966, they had a meeting for two hours with the Secretary of the Moscow Office of the Vietnamese Liberation Front (VLF). The VLF is described as the political arm of the Viet Cong. The four reportedly had asked during this meeting if they could visit Viet Cong areas of South Vietnam but were discouraged from this as too difficult.

This newspaper described Miss Deming as "a writer for a peace movement magazine entitled 'Liberation!'. The newspaper article stated that Miss Deming further identified herself as a "pacifist".

Records of the Immigration and Naturalization Service (INS), U. S. Department of Justice, New York City, New York, revealed that one Barbara Deming, United States Citizen, Passport No. G-1163334, address Pamet Point Road, Wellfleet, Massachusetts, left Kennedy Airport, New York, on December 13, 1966, via Air France Flight 010, destination Paris, France.

RE: BARBARA DAVISON DEMING

Records of the Passport Office, U. S. Department of State, reviewed on February 17, 1964, by an Investigative Clerk of the Federal Bureau of Investigation disclosed the following information:

Passport B-715662 was issued to Barbara Deming on December 20, 1961. This passport was not valid for travel to Albania, Cuba and those portions of China, Korea and Vietnam under Communist control. This passport will expire on December 19, 1964, and could be renewed for two years. Application for the passport was dated December 20, 1961, at New York, New York, and contained the following background data:

MR+MRS Barbara Deming's date of birth was revealed as July 23, 1917, at New York, New York; permanent residence, Wellfleet, Cape Cod, Massachusetts. Her father was listed as Harold S. Deming, born 1884 at Brooklyn, New York. Her mother was listed as Katherine Burritt, born May 6, 1891, at Chicago, Illinois. She indicated she had never been married. She was described as follows: DEMING

Height	5'10"
Hair	Brown
Eyes	Brown
Occupation	Writer

On December 15, 1964, a source who has furnished reliable information in the past advised Barbara Davison Deming is employed as a free lance writer and that she resides at Pamet Point Road, Wellfleet, Massachusetts. According to this source, Miss Deming is often away from Wellfleet on business and travels extensively through the United States.

This source could not furnish any specific information concerning the purpose for her travel.

On May 31, 1963, Barbara Deming, Pamet Point Road, Wellfleet, Massachusetts, advised a Special Agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigation that in early May, 1963, she joined the non-violent demonstrators at Birmingham, Alabama, and was jailed there. Miss Deming said that when questioned by the Birmingham Police Department as to what she was doing in Birmingham, she told the police that she was a reporter assigned there to write articles on the Negro demonstration. Miss Deming said that this was not the truth as she was in Birmingham merely to take part in the non-violent demonstration.

RE: BARBARA DAVISON DEMING

The "Cape Codder", a weekly newspaper published at Orleans, Massachusetts, in its edition of May 9, 1963, described Miss Deming as follows:

"Miss Deming has long been associated with the activities of the Committee For Non-Violent Action, a pacifist organization, which advocates the principles of the late Mohandas Gandhi. She has taken part in a number of passive resistance demonstrations against nuclear testing and development."

BARBARA DAVISON DEMING

In the January 19, 1967 issue of "The Cape Codder", a weekly newspaper published at Orleans, Massachusetts, there appeared an article entitled "FROM GHANDI TO HO", "Barbara Deming Speaks About Herself".

When interviewed by [redacted] of the above newspaper, Miss Deming advised she was born in New York City and grew up in a family professionally oriented. Her father was an admiralty lawyer and her brothers have since gone into law, medicine and journalism. Her mother was apolitical.

"So was I", Miss Deming advised. "As a matter of fact, my father was a Republican. I think he voted for Dewey once. My mother's life was her family. I can't think of anything we learned around the dinner table that prepared me for what I am doing now. My father was a stickler for the letter of the law. He taught us to speak the truth, to stand up for what we believed."

After she was graduated from Benington College with a degree in Liberal Arts slanted towards Drama, Miss Deming got a Masters Degree from Western Reserve University in the Literature of the Theater.

She related that she wanted to be a writer but the problem of earning a living came up. Then she received a formal inheritance and this solved the living problem. "I took a trip around the world in 1958, and spent some time in India."

BARBARA DAVISON DEMING

"I got interested in Ghandi and read everything I could get my hands on by him and about him. Until then, I didn't know what I believed most deeply. I didn't know what I felt about things."

Miss Deming said she now thinks that the Ghandian philosophy of non-violence acted to coalesce her fundamental believes and to give some organized purpose to her life.

Miss Deming was an Episcopalian and very much involved in the church after she left college. She gradually moved toward a Quaker orientation form of life which may have stemmed from the fact she went to a Friends School in New York City. In 1960, Miss Deming took a trip to Cuba. She talked to Cubans but was shocked by the gap between what respectable publications in "my country and respectable people were saying about Cuba and what I saw".

Miss Deming also talked with Castro at that time. She referred to Cuba of 1960 as a "contagious atmosphere". After Cuba, Miss Deming became a journalist of sorts. She wrote her first report for publication after consultation with "The Nation" and has written reports for "The Nation" since about peace movements, Civil Rights and other things in this general area.

A group in Connecticut dedicated to non-violent action caught her attention. She went to look them over and stayed for ten days.

"It was like finding a family", she said. She was surrounded with persons who felt and thought about peace as she felt. This may be where she adopted non-violence as a way of life.

Miss Deming plans to start a lecture tour immediately, preaching non-cooperation with the government, non-cooperation with the taxing authority, non-cooperation with the draft.

BARBARA DAVISON DEMING

"There are two reasons why I shall do these things", she said. "One is in the hope it will persuade others to follow, to begin the process of non-cooperation that will persuade the government to review its actions. The other, of course, is that I must. I would have to take this position if nobody followed me at all."

When asked, "What of Communism?", Miss Deming said, "I am not a communist, of course. Can you imagine a communist non-violent Ghandian? I am against central authority and most communist regimes seem to rely on central authority."

"I don't think the question of communism or non-communism is very important in a place like Viet Nam, though. Whatever feeds starving people, whatever brings them peace, seems to me acceptable."

"But in the case of Viet Nam, I think this country has no right to make this decision for them. Whether communism is good or bad, in our opinion, for the Vietnamese, the matter is up to them."

Miss Deming said she is "wary" of governments, generally.

This article went on to state that Miss Deming has made headlines from Alabama, where she went to jail. She has made headlines from Cuba where she talked with Castro. She has made headlines from Hanoi where she talked with Ho Chi Minh. She is going to start making headlines as she goes across the country, speaking to clubs and campuses, advocating a kind of non-cooperation that the Internal Revenue Service is not likely to accept and the Selective Service System is not likely to tolerate. When asked what her brothers, the lawyer, the doctor, the newsman, think of all this, Miss Deming said "They love me."

BARBARA DAVISON DEMING

A source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised that Barbara Davison Deming returned to her home, Pamet Point Road, Wellfleet, Massachusetts, approximately January 11, 1967.

This source was aware through newspaper publicity that Miss Deming was away from Wellfleet for approximately a month, during which time she visited North Vietnam.

In the January 10, 1967 issue of the Cape Cod Standard-Times, a daily newspaper published at Hyannis, Massachusetts, there appeared an article with a New York dateline of January 10, 1967, captioned, "Woman Accuses U. S. of a 'War of Terror.'"

In substance this article relates that Miss Deming returned to the United States on January 9, 1967, after spending eleven days in North Vietnam. She told of "barbarous weapons" used and "deliberate terrorization of the Vietnamese citizens."

She said, "In North Vietnam, we are waging a war of terror against a civilian population. We are using new and barbarous weapons like 'lazy dogs.'"

Miss Deming explained the "lazy dogs" as bombs with an explosive casing containing hundreds of steel pellets which burst out when the casing explodes.

Although she saw no American planes overhead or bombs falling during her stay in North Vietnam, she told of five alerts in the time she was there.

"We saw the results of the bombing. Villages were leveled and things were leveled that were not military installations. They were schools, playgrounds, health centers and Catholic churches and in the middle of Hanoi, just ordinary houses."

ENCLOSURE

BARBARA DAVISON DEMING.

Miss Deming termed "accidental bombing of citizens" as "nonsense" and said there were no military installations near the bombed sites.

"And if the bombing is used for military installations," she questioned, "why use 'lazy dogs' and anti-personnel weapons?"

She told of an interview with Ho Chi Minh in which he said, "we know what it is to be independent. We are not going to give it up."

He also told them, Miss Deming stated, that two million Vietnamese died of hunger in one year under French occupation and the North Vietnamese leader said that not so many people would die even if the fighting continued for many years.

Miss Deming described monuments established at bombing sites with "'lazy dog' pellets in blackboards, a child's jacket with pellet holes."

"The government is deliberately trying to terrorize these people, trying to bring them to their knees," she charged.

Miss Deming termed the North Vietnamese view of the war as a war for independence and told of her discussion with war victims in villages and hospitals. She said, "Each would recount what had happened on the day of his personal tragedy--being wounded or having relatives killed--they were retelling it in a search for their courage, in an effort to turn their suffering into a determination to go on fighting."

RE: [REDACTED]

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

[REDACTED] stated [REDACTED] was not questioned by INS and that [REDACTED] departed Montreal aboard a flight to Toronto, Canada, en route to Ithaca, New York.

[REDACTED] said that [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] informed Canadian customs officials that they had been in North Vietnam. They told American customs they had been in China and they advised INS they had only been in Moscow and France.

"The Washington Daily News" dated January 11, 1967, contained on Page 5 a photograph bearing the caption "Splinter Group." The photograph is of [REDACTED] of Ithaca, New York, with [REDACTED] and Barbara Deming, Wellfleet, Massachusetts. [REDACTED] is holding what she said was a fragmentation bomb dropped on North Vietnam by American planes. The caption said that these persons had just returned from a visit to Hanoi and that they charged the United States is waging a war of civilian terror and of extermination against the North Vietnamese.

"The Washington Post and Times Herald" dated January 17, 1967, contained on Page A-6 an article captioned "Woman Visits Hanoi. Says U.S. Should Quit." The article states that [REDACTED] visited Moscow, Peking, and Hanoi in December of 1966, with three other American women and they were granted a lengthy interview with Ho Chi Minh, President of North Vietnam. The article stated that [REDACTED] spoke at Washington, D.C. on January 16, 1967, and urged the United States get out of Vietnam and let the North and South Vietnamese resolve their differences.

[REDACTED] said that Ho Chi Minh told them that he did not rejoice when American men died in Vietnam. Minh also said, according to [REDACTED] that he wanted to build a socialist North Vietnam, keeping it independent and unallied.

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

RE: [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] said in the article that Ho Chi Minh said he would be willing to negotiate a peace if America showed it was willing to withdraw its troops. But he said the negotiations would have to be with the South Vietnamese National Liberation Front (Vietcong) "as brothers." Then a divided Vietnam could coexist, with the North a socialist state and the South allied with neutralist Far East nations, he told them.

During their eleven days in Hanoi, they were allowed to visit two captured American pilots in Hanoi. [REDACTED] stated they appeared in good health and spirits and told her group they were fed well and were receiving excellent medical attention. Letters from 22 American prisoners were brought back by the woman and sent to the families of the pilots, [REDACTED] said.

b7C

[REDACTED] added that they visited bombed areas in Hanoi and two villages outside of Hanoi which had been destroyed. She added they saw countless civilians - women and children - who had been severely wounded and [REDACTED] said that they had been told the wounds came from anti-personnel weapons and American bombs.

The women returned to the United States by way of Naning, on the China border, Canton, Hong Kong, Karachi, Cairo, Athens, Nice and Paris, where they split up.

[REDACTED] arrived in Toronto on January 6, 1967.

The article said that [REDACTED] had been involved in the peace movement in the United States through the Interuniversity group which conducts teach-ins and that she had also been involved in the civil rights movement.

RE: [REDACTED]

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

She had spent a summer with her children in [REDACTED]
[REDACTED] helping with voter registration.

The article further stated that [REDACTED] came to Washington as a guest of Women Strike for Peace (WSP) and would appear on a television broadcast in Washington, D.C. on January 17, 1967. The article said that [REDACTED] would return to Washington, D.C. to attend one of the congressional luncheons that WSP hold periodically for legislative aides on Capitol Hill. [REDACTED] said that she is booked almost solidly for speaking engagements across the country for the next two months.

The article said that her companions on the trip were [REDACTED] of New York, who is the sister of [REDACTED] sentenced last September to three years in prison for refusing to serve in Vietnam; Barbara Deming of Liberation magazine, whose editor set up the Hanoi trip; and [REDACTED] of Chicago, whose husband is affiliated with the Southern Christian Leadership Conference.

b7C

"The Washington Post and Times Herald" issue dated January 18, 1967, contained an article on Page A-17 captioned "Passports Lifted From 3 Visitors To North Vietnam." This article said that the State Department reported on January 17, 1967, that it had revoked the passports of three of four women who visited North Vietnam recently without the Department's permission.

A Department spokesman said notifications of revocation were sent Friday, January 13, 1967, to [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] New York; [REDACTED] of New York City, and Miss Barbara Deming of Cape Cod, Massachusetts.

RE: [REDACTED]

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

No action has been taken concerning the fourth woman, [REDACTED] of Chicago, the spokesman said, because "We are not aware of her return to the United States." The Department has warned the three women that it would be a criminal offense to use the revoked passports for further travel.

"The Washington Daily News" and "The Washington Post and Times Herald" are Washington, D.C. daily newspapers.

A confidential source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised on January 26, 1967, as follows:

A luncheon was held in Room S-207 in the United States Capitol Building on January 25, 1967, from 12:00 noon to 2:00 p.m. The WSP were the sponsors of the luncheon which featured [REDACTED] one of the women who recently returned from a trip to North Vietnam. Senator Ernest Gruening (Democrat), Alaska, made the arrangements for the luncheon. Senator Gruening appeared during the luncheon and spoke for about ten minutes.

In brief, Senator Gruening stated that the people of North Vietnam have never been a threat to the United States in any way. We are the aggressors in Vietnam; we are bombing innocent people, and we should get out of Vietnam.

Following the luncheon, [REDACTED] recounted her experiences in North Vietnam. She said there are Cubans, Russians and Chinese in the country. The North Vietnamese get along very well with the Cubans; treat the Russians as honored guests, and ignore the Chinese.

RE: [REDACTED]

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

[REDACTED] stated that the government in North Vietnam is a popular government, loved by all the people. The people are armed and could take over if they did not love their government. She said that United States bombing is not going to break down the morale of the North Vietnamese.

[REDACTED] advised that the visiting women were allowed to visit with 20 to 22 United States prisoners held in North Vietnam. The prisoners are treated wonderfully. They are well fed, receiving rice, fresh meats, vegetables and other wholesome food.

During a question and answer period following [REDACTED] speech, one of the questions related to why so many Catholics have left Vietnam. The answer was that when Cardinal Spellman visited the country, he told Catholics to leave. Also, a miracle occurred in which the Virgin told Catholics to leave.

WSP paid for 80 luncheons in advance. However, over 80 persons attended the luncheon so that some persons did not get to eat. A charge of $3.35 per plate was made.

At the end of the luncheon, [REDACTED] of WSP made an appeal for contributions. One woman donated $25.

The WSP has been publicly identified as a pacifist organization.
